To Whom It May Concern:

This is to recommend to you Dr. Joey Peyton, who has for several years served Urshan Graduate School of Theology as Director of Field Education and Assistant Professor of Practical Theology.

Dr. Peyton has demonstrated faithful commitment to his tasks, including not only the administration of an exemplary field education program but the creation of appropriate policies and documents. The Association of Theological Schools has taken note of his ground-breaking work, and it is not unusual for students who have graduated from Urshan Graduate School of Theology after completing field education to find ready employment in clinical pastoral education programs in Saint Louis area hospitals.

Students who have been privileged to study under Dr. Peyton in his practical theology classes have found them to be profoundly challenging and rewarding.

I believe you will find Dr. Peyton to be a person who is well qualified academically, experientially, and spiritually and who can bring significant qualitative depth to your organization.

I commend him to you.

Sincerely,
